Caribbean companion: Jamaica

A year of discovery

Welcome to AA Flight-Club Travel Magazine. Each week, we bring one African country into focus, with a Caribbean companion that connects culture, cuisine or coastal experiences.

Our opening pairing is Ghana and Jamaica. The shared editorial theme is heritage and cuisine: stories of local communities, creative expression and the pleasure of discovering a place through its people.

Inside this mock issue: Ghana inspiration; a Jamaica companion; vacation sell-off opportunities; the Flight Club; and an invitation for participating venues to share their offers.

52 weekly digital editions and 12 monthly printed highlights editions. The October print issue brings together the launch week and October's four weekly features.

Ghana: a warm welcome

Begin with the people and the stories.

A Ghana feature can connect local history, coastal scenery, food and the creative life of its cities. Give readers room to explore neighbourhoods, meet local hosts and build a stay around their interests.

For the local partner edition: pair a hosted cultural experience with a guest house or hotel stay, then invite a participating attraction to contribute a member offer.

Jamaica: the companion feature

Culture, cuisine and coastal time.

Our companion feature invites readers to connect Ghana's heritage story with Jamaica's own local voices, food traditions and landscapes. The pairing is an editorial invitation to discover both places.

A suggested promotion: an African heritage stay and a Caribbean coastal stay, each offered by its own participating venue. Members can enquire about either destination independently.

Each venue supplies its own dates, availability, inclusions and booking conditions before an offer is published.

The vacation sell-off

Your next getaway starts with a local offer.

Hotels, guest houses, attractions and experience providers can submit seasonal promotions and giveaway packages through the partner portal. Members can browse approved offers and enquire about their preferred dates.

Partner invitation: contribute promotional vouchers or a requested 50% discount off your rack rate. Off-season offers can include additional inventory or reduced room rates, with the amount and conditions set by the venue.
